'Devils Disciple' Opens Tonight In College Hall

At 8:15 tonight, Brigham Young University playgoers will be transported in their imagination back to the year 1777, as George Bernard Shaw's melodrama of Revolutionary life, "The Devil's Disciple," opens on the College Hall stage.

According to Dr. T. Earl Pardoe, director of the play, "This was one of Shaw's first attacks on the capitalistic British government, a fight which he continued throughout his life."

Concerns Hypocrisy

On the surface, says Dr. Pardoe, the story of the play appears to concern the hypocrisy of a group of supposedly pious, puritanical people, who eventually are revealed to be not only hypocritical, but superstitious and ignorant, as well. A man who claims the devil as his master turns out to be a better person than the town's beloved minister.

Tickets will be on sale all week at the College Hall ticket office on lower campus. Reservations which have been made by telephone must be picked up at least 24 hours before the performance. Admission price is 75 cents and tickets are on sale between the hours of 1 and 6 p.m. each day.

Continues All Week

The play will run through Saturday evening.

The large cast will be headed by Burnett Ferguson, BYU speech instructor, in the part of the devil's disciple, Richard Dudgeon.

Richard's mother, Mrs. Dudgeon, is portrayed by Carma Collett, Baltimore, Md., while the rest of the Dudgeon relatives will be played by Jean Partridge Harris, Lovell, Wyo., as Essie; Ray Davis, Magna, as Christy; Robert Holman, Iona, Ida., and Evelyn Russell, Beverly Hills, Calif., as Mr. and Mrs. William Dudgeon; and Dick Hawley, Parma, Ida., and Martha Warner, Richfield, as Mr. and Mrs. Titus Dudgeon.

Romantic Interests

Juna Abbott, Boise, Ida., furnishes the play's romantic interest in the part of Judith Anderson. Her husband, Anthony Anderson, is played by Wesley Orton, Hampton, Ida., and Lawyer Hawkins will be portrayed by Morris Hickman, Coulee Dam, Wash.

Taking the part of British army major Swindon is Stanford Sorensen, Driggs, Ida. His superior officer, General Burgoyne, is portrayed by Don Parker, Ogden. Richard Franks, Oakley, Ida., has the part of army chaplain Strudenel, and Chet Harris, Independence, Mo., will take the part of executioner.

Portray Soldiers

Portraying British and Hessian soldiers and officers will be John Whitaker, Los Angeles, Calif.; James Fife, Burlingame, Calif.; Keith Larsen, Rexburg, Ida.; Lye Espinosa, Sanford, Colo.; Stan Jones, Provo; Pete Ruiz, Trinidad, Colo.; Pete DaParma, Neward, N. J.; Frank Riley, Phoenix, Ariz.; Clyde Bartlett, Tridell, Utah; Don Barbezat, Meridian, Ida.; Osmer Bills, Provo; Jerry Elison, Oakley, Ida.; Ed Davies, Seattle, Wash.; Mitz Hoki, Murray; Kay Moon, Orem; and Dick Shaw, Liberty.

Citizens of the town will be Krista Nelson, Provo; Sharon Buchanan, Richfield; Jacquie Nowlin, Calgary, Alberta, Can.; Gwen Chase, Berkeley, Calif.; and Dorothy Bartels, Columbus, Neb.

DEVIL IN DISGUISE—Morris Hickman, Wesley Orton, and Burnett Ferguson, listen to Carma Collett in this scene from the "Devil's Disciple," which begins tonight.

Queen, Personality Announcements Highlight Annual Banyan Ball Friday

Announcement of Banyan Queens and Personalities will highlight the annual Banyan Ball Friday night.

The semi-formal affair will begin in both the social hall and Smith ballroom at 9 p.m. Wes Barry and Bruce Riddle will furnish the music.

The committee composed of Wally Hunt, Carolyn Edwards, Arthell Wilkins, Boyd Bitton, announced today that the theme for this year's dance will be "Illumination."

Three campus beauties who receive the nod of John Robert Powers, head of a famous New York model agency, will be honored at the ball. The queen and her attendants were selected by Mr. Powers from the pictures of six finalists named in preliminary judging by a Banyan committee. Petitions were presented for 35 campus coeds before the first selection was made.

Final candidates are Carol Beckstrand, Pearlyne Crowley, Luanne Cosgrave, Betty Hatch, Nancy Osterloh, and June Peterson. Appearance, beauty, figure and personality were all considered in the judging. Mr. Powers was supplied measurements to aid him in his selection.

Twelve personalities from the senior class and eight from each of the other classes will be announced at the dance. Students who received three nominations on ballots distributed at studentbody assembly recently were considered in final judging by the Banyan staff. The judging was done in this manner to avoid the confusion of general studentbody election.

Tickets are on sale for one dollar per couple in the Joseph Smith information booth.

Gamma Tau, Fidelas Set Stage Show Saturday

A capacity crowd is expected Saturday at 8:15 p.m. when the curtain rises on the second annual musical production of Gamma Tau and Fidelas social units in the Joseph Smith auditorium.

Featuring a 50-voice chorus and a 30-piece orchestra, the production will be directed by Fred Adams, Montpelier, Ida., with Connie Rushton, Las Vegas, Nev., assisting.

With full cooperation of BYU studentbody officers and a number of faculty members, the show will be longer and better this year, Mr. Adams reports. Members of the two units have been practicing since the middle of fall quarter.

When the two units combined their efforts in producing their show last year, it was the first one of its kind ever staged by a unit on the Y campus. The J. S. auditorium was filled to capacity last year and present interest indicates that the attendance figures will be as high this year.

Cast in the leading roles are: LaVan Heninger, Clearfield; DeVon Fife, Idaho Falls; Patricia Maughan, Preston, Ida.; Dick Sweet, Lewiston, Ida.; Mary Barstow, Idaho Falls; and John MacCabe, San Carlos, Calif. Other featured players include Anna Bushman, Ronald Dye, June Hansen, Marvin Morris, Teri Pond, Sidney Reading and Bob Unice.

Don Spurrier, El Paso, Tex., will direct the orchestra with Anna Bushman, Albuquerque, N. M., as accompanist.

The production staff includes Florence Stocks, make-up; Eleanor Kondo, costumes; and June and Gene Hansen, scenery.

Ballets by Florence Stocks and Colleen Collins and a dance sequence by Jean Williams and Jim will also be featured.

MUSICAL MOMENTS—DeVon Fife watches Jim Penrod and Jean Williams in a tender scene in the forthcoming Gamma Tau-Fidelas annual musical production.

Dr. T. V. Smith To Lecture Today at 8 p.m.

T. V. Smith, philosopher, statesman and author, and founder of the famed University of Chicago Roundtable, will deliver two lectures on Brigham Young University campus Tuesday.

He will address the BYU studentbody in the Tuesday assembly at 11 a.m., and will speak in the Provo Tabernacle at 8:15 on the lyceum series.

Born in a log cabin, Dr. Smith is now practitioner of Politics as well as Professor of Philosophy at the University of Chicago. He is a former member of the Illinois State Senate; Congressman-at-large from Illinois, 76th congress; Dean in the Colleges University of Chicago; chairman and author of the Illinois legislative council; author of many philosophical and political and social science books; and the only American educator to have served officially in the three great conquered countries for the rehabilitation of education.

In 1943, Dr. Smith, who had been Pfc. Smith in World War I, became Lt. Col. Smith, trained at the University of Virginia and Algiers, North Africa, for service in Military Government.

ROTC Program Unique

It has often been said that the Latter-day Saints are an unusual people.

An example of that peculiarity may be found on our campus today, where we find an unusual group of young men are being taught doctrines unique in the annals of the armed forces. Where, but at the Brigham Young University, can one find an ROTC unit being taught the Gospel in their indoctrination course?

Lt. Col. Jesse E. Stay utilizes the teachings of the Book of Mormon while instructing those men newly enrolled in the Air Force ROTC unit. Early in their military experience these cadets understand that their commanding officer is a man of firm religious convictions. They are taught the attitude of their church, as well as the attitude of their country, to the armed forces. They learn to be proud of their participation in the ROTC program.

Membership in the ROTC means more to the cadet than a temporary draft deferment. There is a strong moral obligation to perfect himself, that he may better serve his country.

Good for him also is the competitive spirit prevailing within the ROTC. He may do mediocre work and remain in college, but must be outstanding if he wishes to become an officer.

As an officer, he is obligated to remain in the service no longer than if he were non-commissioned. Under present law, men who enter any branch of the armed forces are obligated to remain, either active or inactive, for eight years. Latter-day Saint parents of sons might do well to consider the background of the ROTC at the Brigham Young University while deciding to send their sons on to school, or to keep them at home until inducted.—Ross Linn

Athletic Council States Case

Dear Editor:

Because of the apparent misunderstanding that a number of people have had relative to the distribution of tickets, the Athletic Council feels that it is necessary to make the following statement:

On the Athletic Council, we have the studentbody president as a regular member of the group. When matters pertaining to the distribution of student tickets were discussed in the Athletic Council, the method finally adopted for the distribution of student tickets this year was recommended to us and approved by your studentbody officers.

The Athletic Council is willing to make any modification in the distribution of tickets that would be to the liking of the greatest number of students. We have made numerous changes at the request of your President, each of which was made with the idea in mind of improving the situation for the students.

At the recommendation of the Studentbody officers the scheme for handing out the tickets in the Utah game was made by them and handed to us and in turn given to the ticket dispensers. The plan was to give away, first, the center section, beginning with row one, and after all these were gone, to start with the side tickets, beginning with the f9irst row. This program was followed. The Athletic Council will be glad to consider any sensible recommendations to improve the method that the students, in an organized manner, will present to us through their Studentbody President.

The council was also gratified to know that every BYU student was granted a ticket to the Utah game.

The Athletic Council.

"Wars and Rumors of Wars" by Ford Paulson

A student opinion poll, whose results are shown in this issue, was replete with interesting facts and comments, inserted by the students who filled out the questionnaires. Some of the interesting sidelights and comments:

1. Seven colors of ink, in addition to pencilled answers, were used by the students polled. We didn't know the ink manufacturers had such imagination.

2. One bright young man thought that the U. S. should come to the aid of every country which might be attacked by Russia—every country, that is, except Texas.

3. Several inserts at the bottom of the sheets said simply, "What a lousy poll!" Will the writers please contact this, their humble servant, and they can assist in making up the next one.

4. Here we leave the lighter side. Of the 58 per cent of the students polled who think that war with Russia is inevitable, quite a number of them inserted, a bit apologetically we believe, "Yes. . . is inevitable. . . according to the scriptures.

Perhaps we overstep our bounds of propriety as a "World Today" writer by venturing into the field of interpreting the scriptures. It is a venture far afield from our usual journalistic endeavors.

But we cannot but feel somewhat uneasy about such pessimism regarding possible war with Russia—a pessimism based on inferences made from scripture.

Don't get us wrong—we have only the highest respect for the Standard Works, but in our opinion, there is nothing, in any of them, which can be directly interpreted to mean that war with Russia is inevitable.

"Wars and rumors. . ." we are all aware of, and we have read of Gog and Magog, and are familiar with the White Horse prophecy (not scripture, by the way). Too, we take cognizance of the warnings against those who proclaim that "all is well in Zion."

Nevertheless, we feel that there is no direct reference to Russia vs. USA in these writings.

The inferences made by many students are, in our opinion, erroneous, and we feel that who are thinking in this vein should re-examine their positions.

Pessimism is a dangerous thing; if we should all resign ourselves to the inevitability of war "because the scriptures say so," all hope for peace would vanish.

* * * * *

Our heart bleeds today for one Newbold Morris, an "independent Republican" attorney who has been assigned the task of assisting Attorney General J. Howard McGrath in a general housecleaning of the administration.

His appointment has been branded as a White House phony by California's Senator Nixon, who asserts that the New York lawyer is prejudiced before he starts his alleged "impartial" investigation.

It does seem rather strange: Appointed by McGrath, he told the world what a nice fellow McGrath is, and then boldly asserted that his investigation will start in McGrath's own Justice Department.

If any blame in the investigation must be put upon Mr. McGrath, Mr. Morris will have a rather embarrassing time placing it, after praising his boss to the skies before he starts.

However, a man of courage and high principles, given the necessary cooperation, could perform a great duty for this country by staging a real cleanup. Mr. Morris has our blessing—we hope he can do the job.

BYU STUDENTS PRESENT VIEWS IN POLL ON IMPORTANT ISSUES

A poll taken recently on some of the important political issues our nation is facing today revealed some interesting facts about student opinions on these problems.

The poll was taken with the cooperation of professors Stewart Grow, Richard Poll and Brigham Madsen, and was administered in such a way that a fairly representative group of students was questioned. A total of 451 students were polled.

The poll and the results follow:

Please mark this questionnaire with an (x) in the appropriate space.

1. Do you think that the large U. S. expenditures for re-arming and rehabilitating non-Communist countries are justified by present conditions?

Yes 339 No 106

2. Do you think that war with Russia is inevitable?

Yes 259 No 192

If your answer is "yes" indicate whether you think the war will come within:

One year 26 Five years 159 10 years 74

3. UN action in Korea has:

strengthened 115 weakened 169 had no effect 154

on Communist power in the world.

4. If any of the following nations should be attacked by a Communist power, do you think the U. S. should support that nation with military force? (Consider each nation separately.)

	Yes	No
a. England	413	32
b. Iran	337	97
c. Turkey	316	122
d. West Germany	405	38

The UNIVERSE thanks all those who cooperated in this matter. Other similar polls will become UNIVERSE feature, in an attempt to measure student thinking on national issues which affect us all.

Dr. Joseph F. Merrill Dies While Sleeping

Dr. Joseph F. Merrill, member of the Council of Twelve Apostles of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, and of the Brigham Young University Board of Trustees, died in his sleep early Sunday.

Apostle Merrill was a nationally prominent educator and scientist. He had been a professor at the University of Utah for 35 years, 28 of which were served as Dean of the school of engineering.

His many church activities have included serving as commissioner of education, general board member of the Young Men's Mutual Improvement Assn., and president of the LDS European Mission from 1933 to 1936.

Noted Educator

While serving as commissioner of education he founded the LDS seminary system at secondary and higher education institutions in the intermountain region.

Dr. Merrill was a leader in the Salt Lake City smoke abatement program, and was also largely responsible for getting the U. S. Bureau of Mines intermountain station located on the University of Utah campus.

Phi Beta Kappa

He was born August 24, 1868 in Richmond, Cache County, to Marriner Wood Merril, also a member of the Council of Twelve, and Maria L. Kingsbury Merrill. He attended the University of Utah and the University of Michigan and received a doctor of philosophy degree from Johns Hopkins University in 1899. He was also a member of Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary scholastic fraternity.

Elder Merrill has also been secretary of the Utah State Conservation Commission, and advisory member of the Democratic State Central Committee, president of the Utah Teachers' association, and president of the Engineering Council of Utah.

Twice Married

On June 9, 1898, Dr. Merrill married Annie Laurie Hyde in the Salt Lake LDS Temple. She died in 1917 and on June 29, 1918, he married Emily L. Traub. She died in 1941.

Comes the Dawn ...

A Hectic Day Is Typical For Wymount Dorm Boys

by Norman Smith

"Rin-n-n-ng!" I jump up muttering unprintable words and instinctively dive for the alarm clock on the chest. Only this time it isn't there and neith is the chest. Being thoroughly awakened by this unexpected event, I decide, since the room's only furnishings are the clock, the bed, and me, that somehow I got in the wrong room. But that can't be—then slowly some wheels begin to turn.

I went to sleep for a peaceful little nap awhile ago and now—Yes! My dear buddy down the hall has been visiting. He was nice enough to leave the clock, though—set so he wouldn't miss anything.

After collecting my chest from the hall, my chairs from the shower, and the rest of my stuff from all over the dorm, I go down to iron—I think. Stepping into the laundry room, I am hit in the face by that most pleasant of all smells, the odor of burning cloth.

Making a mad dash through the smoke and jungle of clothes hanging from the ceiling, I manage to grab some guy's iron just before it burns clear through the board. After the smoke clears, I decide that I can iron around the hole—maybe.

Two hours later I return with my two ironed (?) shirts. It was such a workout that I need a shower. But when I get to the shower I again realize that I should have known better. Somebody is taking a steam bath. Well, that puts the shower out, so I decide to be content with washing and a shave. I grope blindly through the steam until I crack my shin on the garbage can that is kept conveniently in the door. After a few choice words to the garbage can, I limp bravely on through the steam.

Eureka!

Abruptly my nose finds the wall, and I follow along it until I find a mirror. But I am thwarted again. There is so much moisture on the mirror that I couldn't see my reflection even if I could see the mirror. I give up in disgust and limp back to my room.

After that steam, I really need a shower, but I can't get it so I sit down to drown my sorrows in study. Ah, what a foolish thing to do, sitting down to study with the door open.

It isn't long until some body comes in to find out what time it is. Then we discuss that tough test. The death blow to all plans for studying comes when he comes in and sits down. Needless to say, it isn't long before everyone in the house has come in, and a big bull session is in full swing.

This intellectual (that's what I said!) discussion continues uninterrupted until 10:35, when noise in the hall heralds the return of the dorm boys. Campus Dorm, that is.

Report Time

After cleaning their faces, the dorm boys came in to report. The reports are heard and discussed and things get pretty well back to normal until some killjoy announces that he has to go to bed. When he leaves an hour later, it isn't long until everyone else follows and I'm alone again.

Well, I needed to study, but that was quite and educational three hours, anyway. Where else can I learn so much about women, cars, money, women, food, experiences, and women?

Gosh, it's twelve o'clock! I'm kinda tired but this studying has to be done. Lesee now, sine over—tangent — equ a l s—Shake-

KEY TO BUSINESS MANAGER POST CHANGES HANDS IN ASSEMBLY

Expressing thanks to the students who elected him their business manager, Mark Money officially turned over his key of office to Myron Walker in studentbody assembly last Thursday.

Mr. Money, who served in office for two quarters, left yesterday for Fort Douglas, Utah, where he will receive his orders to proceed to Fort Lewis, Wash., and service with the United States Army.

Studentbody president Keith Orme punctuated his commendation of Mark's work with the announcement that the retiring business manager had culminated his period in office by presenting an engagement ring to studentbody secretary Roylance Spratling. Keith commented that perhaps the move would set a precedent since last year's business manager and secretary were also married.

Y Symphony Orchestra Slates Marsden, Wight as Soloists

Ted Wight, Provo, flutist, and Louise Marsden, Parowan, pianist, will be the instrumental soloists with the Brigham Young University symphony orchestra at its annual spring concert on May 14, according to Lawrence W. Sardoni, acting chairman of the BYU music department.

Before coming to BYU Miss Marsden attended BAC where she played a piano concerto with their symphony orchestra, in addition to playing the oboe in their band and orchestra. Last year she played oboe in the BYU symphony orchestra.

She has appeared in recital in high school and college and is now a student of Carl Fuerstner of the BYU music faculty.

Mr. Wight played first flute in band and orchestra at Provo High school, and performed a solo with the orchestra his senior year. A sophomore at BYU, he plays first flute with both the band and orchestra in addition to participating in small ensemble groups and accompanying vocalists. He is a student of Sam Pratt, principal flutist with the Utah Symphony orchestra.

COLLEGE CHOIR—St. Olaf's Choir will sing here Sunday at 3 p.m. on the Community Concert-BYU lyceum series.

St. Olaf Choir Appears Sunday In Community Concert Series

The St. Olaf choir will present a concert Sunday at 3 p.m. in the Joseph Smith auditorium, as part of the Brigham Young University-Community Concert series.

The group is composed of 60 college students from St. Olaf College, a four-year liberal arts school, in Northfield, Minn. They are directed by Olaf C. Christiansen and have toured the United States every year since 1920. They have also appeared abroad.

Competition for membership in the choir is extremely keen, and hundreds try out every year. While many schools boast of their prowess in sports, at St. Olaf's the emphasis is on the choir.

Olaf C. Christiansen, director, is the son of Dr. F. Melius Christiansen, founder of the St. Olaf choir. Prior to joining the St. Olaf faculty in 1941 the younger Dr. Christiansen was on the staff of Oberlin conservatory.

BYU Students Receive Bid To Ski School

Alf Engen, a recognized authority in the skiing world, has issued an invitation to Brigham Young University students to learn to ski free under his supervision at the annual Deseret News Ski school.

The invitation applies to BYU students now enrolled in the university ski school, as well as novice waxed boardsmen. The skiing clinic has scheduled three Saturday morning classes for the Provo area on Feb. 9, 16, and 23 at Timp Haven.

Engen and a staff of hand-picked instructors will be on hand to teach every ski fundamental, from beginning turns to slalom racing and jumping. "The Old Master of the Boards" announced that he will have classes in "anything requested."

Head instructor Engen stressed the point that the most important factor is not how well a person skis, but how safe and controlled his skiing is. The prime aim of the ski clinic is to teach the safe, right way to ski, and this claim is beared out by the school's no-accident record maintained throughout more than 35,000 two-hour lessons.

Special features of the local sessions will be free t-bar lift and rope tow rides and low-cost lunches and bus transportation.

Special classes can be arranged for groups attending sessions.

Entry blanks now are available in the "News" Provo Bureau, 151 North University, and the sports section.

FROSH CARDS GO ON SALE

Have you freshmen heard of the bargain you get by buying these activity cards? Here are a few of the things that make this such a great bargain: a dance after one of the coming Brigham Young University basketball games, a gigantic carnival, a canyon party, a class project, and loads of fun.

Where can you get these activity cards? Booths will be set up in the Joseph Smith lobby and the bookstore from February 4-9.

They will also be sold by students around the campus. These students are Val Lilenquist, Keith Strong, Norm Slaymaker, Pat Bischoff, Mary Croft, Paul Ashton, Calvin Monson, Dick Wells, Bob Bateman, Doris Rasband, Joanne Smith, Dallin Gardner, Kay Platt, Floy Atkin, Mary Dawson, and Mr. Lorin Jex.

The price of these activity cards is just one dollar.

Come get them while they last.

Education Majors Set Election Meet

Education majors, and any students planning to teach school, are urged to attend a meeting Wednesday, Feb. 6, at 5 p.m. in 270 Physical Science building.

Purpose of the meeting is to acquaint students in education with the National Education Association and Utah Education Association organizations.

Student officers will be elected for the Brigham Young Chapter of NEA, which was established on the campus a year ago.

Air Commissions Available To Qualified Specialists

Assignments are available in the Air Force for 700 highly qualified technical specialists who will accept direct reserve commissions and immediate active duty.

Approximately 250 second lieutenants, 325 captains, 125 majors and eight lieutenant colonels may be commissioned under this quota, the Air Force announced.

A bachelor's degree or higher is generally required.

The major need is for more than 400 college graduates in the fields of Communications, Psychological Warfare, Procurement, Weather and Auditing.

Further requirements call for psychological assistants, comptrollers, air police, intelligence specialists, cryptanalysts, map reproduction personnel and laundry officers.

Vacancies exist for approximately 200 commissions in specialties calling for a master's degree or higher.

Particularly needed in this category are aero, mechanical, civil and industrial engineers, meteorologists and electronics specialists. Other fields include physics, armament, advanced management, psychology and business administration.

Detailed information on requirements may be obtained from headquarters of the Fourth Air Force, Hamilton Air Force Base, California.

Camp Announces Members For ROTC Male Chorus

Personnel for the Brigham Young University Air Force ROTC male chorus were announced today by Virgil Camp, student director.

Of the 108 men who registered and auditioned, 28 were chosen to form the chorus. Paul Fish, music major, has been selected as accompanist.

The first tenor section is composed of Ray Christensen, Forrest Allred, and Don Mortenson, all of Provo; Ross Bratt, Spray, Ore.; Ronald Carter, Buhl, Ida.; and Ted Joseph Baer, Berkeley, Calif.

Second tenors are Dick Rogers, Mesa, Ariz.; Duke Major, Huntington Park, Calif.; Hal Dunford, Provo; Ferrell McKinney, Spring City; Eugene Tenney, Cottonwood, Calif.; and Grant Ipsen, Malad, Ida.

Baritones are Malin Perry, Ross Lloyd, Kent Prestwich, Ned Brown, and Jae Ballif, all of Provo; Robert Thompson, Malta, Ida.; Dean Holmes, Burley, Ida.; and Robert Burtenshaw, Rigby, Ida.

Basses are Don Watts, Idaho Falls, Ida.; Ron Frazier, Evanston, Wyo.; Burton Winters, Afton, Wyo.; Garth Rogers, Provo; Bob Peterson, Ogden; Stanley Porter, Tampico, Mont.; Merlin Paul, Elko, Nev.; and Vic Jorgenson, Boise, Ida.

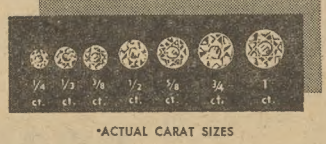
DIAMONDS
ARE SOLD BY WEIGHT, NOT BY SIZE



•ACTUAL CARAT SIZES

Diamonds are popularly thought of in terms of size, but are always sold by weight. The unit of weight is the carat, which is divided into 100 points (1 carat equals 100 points; ½ carat 50 points, etc.) In ancient India a carat was the weight of the carat seed; now it is an exact unit defined by the Bureau of Standards. The spread or surface of a diamond is not directly proportional to its weight. Unless you're an expert there are many more facts about diamonds you should know before buying.

LAMBDA DELTA SIGMA

Upsilon and Omega had a date exchange with Alpha, Delta and Gamma chapters of LDS last Thursday. It was held at the Joaquin school. Dancing and games were enjoyed by all and refreshments of punch and cookies were served. In charge of the evening's entertainment were LaRee Goats, Eugene Sinclair, Ray Harris, Joyce Galbraith, and Reed Dahle.

Studio Officials Voice Thanks For Retake Aid

Appreciation was voiced this week by photo studio officials for cooperation given by students in a special series of Banyan photo retakes completed Saturday.

Nearly 900 individual photos of social unit and club members were retaken in a period of seven and one-half working days, it was reported by Joseph M. Boel, manager of the studio. More students had their club pictures made during the intensive retake period than in the original schedule from Jan. 7 to 21, he pointed out.

Mr. Boel praised officers and members of the student organizations for cooperating with the Banyan and photo studio staffs in achieving this record on short notice.

In the peak of the retake period, picture sittings were booked almost solidly from 8:30 to 7:30 p.m.

In spite of the ten-day setback encountered in completing the unit and club member photos, production of the Banyan is proceeding according to schedule, it is reported by Ron Otteson and Barbara Josie, co-editors. The time lost is expected to be made up through a stepped-up schedule by the photo studio in delivering finished prints and an accelerated process of preparing finished pages for the printer, it was explained.

Repertoire Class for Piano Open Wednesday Nights

Carl Fuerstner's piano repertoire class, held every Wednesday evening at 7:15, is open to any interested student, and may or may not be taken for credit.

It is a chronological study of the great masters in music, their works and their lives. Mr. Fuerstner lectures on the masters and plays some of their works. Students also do some of the playing.

RI VETA

A "Get Acquainted" slumber party was held at the Martin party house on Friday, Feb. 1.

Julia Groberg and Pat Steimle have been chosen as co-chairmen of the formal dinner dance to be held spring quarter.

Bunny Covington was elected chairman to be in charge of pledging and rushing activities next quarter.

Sketches of prospective pins and unit mottos are being submitted to committee members preparatory to final selection.

GAMMA TAU

The Gamms had their rush party at Wasatch Springs last Thursday evening. The 30 fellows and their dates then adjourned for hamburgers and root beer.

Fred Adams, social chairman, announced an exchange party with Upsilon chapter of Lambda Delta Sigma for sometime in mid-February. The annual dinner dance will be March 1, he said.

All active members of Fidelas and Gamma Tau, together with some visitors, heard a reading of "Liliom," a play from which "Carousel" was taken.

Fourteen goats began rush activities the first of this week under the direction of Boyd Wheelwright and June and Gene Hanson, joint goatmasters.

FRENCH, SPANISH CLUBS

Executives and class representatives of both the Spanish and French clubs will meet Thursday in room 210 of the J. S. building, at 5 p.m. These two clubs will hold a festive Mardi Gras the first week in March, so it's necessary that everyone be at the meeting so that plans can be completed.

ALTA MITRA

Charter members of Alta Mitra held their first rush party for prospective members last Thursday at the home of Virginia Joost.

Second rush party will be held Thursday at 38 W. 7 N. at 7 p.m. Themed "Come as You Are," the party is under the direction of LaRae Baird, Shirley Farrington, Virginia Joost and Eunice Brambills.

BRIGADIER

The Brigadiers held their rush party Wednesday at Timp Haven. The evening was spent tobogganingand skiing, after which refreshments were served. Twenty-five prospective members signed the roster. Wally Hunt was in charge of the party.

Student T-V Talent Auditions Scheduled for February 22

Screening to obtain the best Brigham Young University television talent prospects to perform during BYU's first annual Radio and Television Week, will take place February 13 and 14.

The booth in the Science Bldg. lobby will be open afternoons tomorrow to Tuesday to convenience those making appointments.

Those selected as having the greatest television talent will then perform before professional TV personalities who are coming here from KSL-TV in Salt Lake City. This mammoth display of outstanding BYU performers will occur February 22 as one of the highlights of Radio and Television Week. Enough talent will be selected to fill a two-hour show to be presented before the studentbody.

All those found TV-worthy by professional authorities will be featured over KSL-TV.

PAT: Did you see those beautiful Banyan Queen photos?

MIKE: Yah, I sure did! I wonder who took those beautiful portraits?

PAT: Biddulph Studios, of course — who else!

Flu, Farmers, Redskins Fell Cougars

Utes Edge Y 51-48 As 8500 Look On

by Dan Clay

Before some 8500 frenzied fans in the Brigham Young University fieldhouse last Saturday night the University of Utah Redskins downed BYU's flu-racked Cougars 51-48. The defeat pushed the Cats deeper into second place behind the Wyoming Cowboys who topped the Denver Pioneers in a game at Laramie. BYU now trails the Pokes by one and one-half games.

By virtue of their win over the Cougars, Utah kept alive their Skyline title hopes. They also trail Wyoming by one and one-half games, but are separated from the Cougars by 50 percentage points. The conference race has shaped up into a three-team scramble with Utah State not too far behind in fourth.

Saturday night in the fieldhouse it was just a case of too much Glen Smith. The 6-4 Ute center from Salt Lake City hit on seven out of 16 from the floor and five for seven from the foul line for a total of 19 points. He also helped the Ute cause by grabbing eight rebounds. Had it not been for the fine guarding by Jerry Romney, Smith would probably have hit 30.

The Cougars led only once in the entire game, for a stretch in the third period and the beginning of the fourth. However, the Utes got hot in the last period and pulled away to a commanding 50-40 lead before BYU put on a last ditch rally sparked by Joe Richey who scored six points in 34 seconds in the last minute.

The Utes jumped to a quick lead in the first quarter only to have the Cougars knot the count at five-all midway in the period. It took BYU four minutes to break into the scoring column. The Redskins moved away from the five-all count with field goals by Asay, Smith twice, and Bates.

It was beginning to look as if the Cats were going to be left in the dust, but with a minute and a half left in the quarter Hal Christensen dropped a hook and Romney hit on a jump shot and the quarter ended 13 to nine for the Utes.

Utah again opened the scoring in the second period, boasting leads of 17-11 and 20-13 before the Cougars warmed up with Nick Mateljan sinking a layup and Chris hitting on a running jump shot.

Here, Smith took over for four quick points on two fouls preceded by a beautiful underhand layup. With the count of 24-17 and two minutes left in the half, BYU rose up, offensively, and scored three quick baskets within a minute. Richey, Chris, and Tom Karren notched the field goals that made the score 24-23 at halftime.

In the third quarter the Utes managed only 10 points. Smith had eight of them. With Utah leading 30-25, the Cougars ran up 11 straight points and it looked as if BYU was on the way to its seventh in a row in the fieldhouse.

The Cougars lead 36-30 with only 27 seconds left in the period but Smith was not through. He scored on a hook shot and then a defensive lapse with three seconds to go gave Kent Bates an easy layup. This might have broken the Cougars' backs.

Tom Karren opened the last period with a tap-in to make it 38-34 for BYU, but five straight points put the Utes ahead 39-38. Jarman tied it with a foul but a jump shot put Utah ahead to stay.

Utah Aggies Top Flu Racked-Cats

by Bruce Dyer

Showing the effects of the flu bug that hit the team earlier in the week, Brigham Young University's Cougars dropped their first conference game of the season to Utah State last Friday night in Logan. Final score was by a 17 point margin, 57-40.

Without wanting to go overboard on excuses for the team, the loss of Dean Larson and the fact that Joe Richey played but four minutes in the second half, were contributing factors in the defeat by the Aggies. While Richey was in the line-up he hit for two from the floor to spark a brief rally but soon had to leave the game because of his weakened condition.

The Farmers were led in their win by the truly great play of Harbertson, Hull, and Bert Cook. Of the 25 counters posted by their team in the first half, Hull and Harbertson made 20 between them. In addition to his point-making, Hull did a terrific job of controlling the defensive bankboard—seldom did the Cats get a second try at the hoop if they happened to miss their first effort.

The game started out very slowly with neither team wanting to risk losing the ball on bad shots. The Farmers managed to put in one more gift toss than the Cougars to lead 10-9 at the end of the first quarter. On the strength of some fancy long shots by Harbertson they stretched their lead to 20-20 at halftime. Every time it looked as if the locals would tie the game, Harbertson would hit for a long one-hander from outside the key.

The last two periods were a repetition of the second with but one exception—Bert Cook started to score. Held to but one two-pointer and two charity throws by Jerry Romney in the first half, the Aggies' all-conference forward broke loose for 14 points in the concluding two periods.

He was aided and abetted in his assault on the Cat basket by the aforementioned duo of Harbertson and Hull, and Tucker and Sewell.

Frosh Hoopers Split Games Over Weekend

The Utah Jayvees felt the scratch of the baby Cougars here Saturday night in a nip and tuck battle on the casaba court, but Friday night the Y frosh just couldn't catch fire and burn up the Aggie floor with the power they have shown thus far this season.

The young Farmers showed a well-balanced ball club with a boy by the name of Smith playing the role of high point scorer for the night.

After a close game throughout the Cougar freshmen came from behind in the last minutes of play to win over the Ute frosh. Dave Evans potted two points and put the Kittens on top with seconds left to play.

The Utes countered with a quick basket tieing the score. With three seconds remaining, Spud Stephens ripped the net for the winning basket.

BYU Travels To Montana To Meet Grizzlies

After suffering two defeats last week at the hands of rival Utah schools, the BYU Cougars will take out their spite on the home-standing Montana Grizzlies Friday night. The two squads have already met once this season and the Cats won handily over the spirited Grizzlies.

Last week, the Montanans met Montana State in a non-conference tilt in the Grizzly lair. Having won only three conference contests this season, the Grizzly squad sharpened up their attack and drubbed the visiting 'Staters to the tune of 84-56.

Colorado A&M, New Mexico and Utah State felt the wrath of the Grizzly drive, and all three clubs succumbed to the battling Montana quintet.

The Grizzlies have looked good on the court at times, and at other times a little out of place. Their biggest surprise victory of the season thus far was the triumph over the Utah State Aggies, 72-70.

Wyoming Cowboys In Skyline Eight Top Spot

Wyoming took over undisputed lead in the Skyline Eight basketball loop when the Brigham Young Cougars dropped two succesive games last weekend.

Having been in the circuit lead for most of the season, the Cats dropped a contest to the Utah Staters on Friday night in the Aggie fieldhouse and were edged by the Utah Redskins on the Y court the following night.

Judging from past performances, it was a pitifully poor game that the Cats threw against the Farmers from Logan, but the BYU squad had been severely hit with an epidemic of the flu earlier in the week and had not begun to recover.

Attack in Spurts

When the Cougars met the Utes the following night, the result was an interesting contest. The Y attack seemed to come in spurts. They were in the middle of one of these surges when the final whistle interrupted the contest.

Utah State continued in its winning ways again on Saturday with a win over the New Mexico Lobos, who are currently riding the bottom of the loop barrel. Although the Lobos put up a good fight, the Farmers ran up a score of 68-52 to chalk up their fourth conference win. Their record now stands at four wins and three losses.

The Wyoming Cowboys continued to hold on to their record of only one loss by winning over Colorado A&M on Thursday and over the Pioneers from Denver University on Saturday. This brought the Pokes' record up to a seven and one mark, their only loss being at the hands of Utah State. The Cowboys and the Cougars have not yet met, and an interesting contest is in the offing when they clash on the Cougar court a week from Saturday.

New Mexico Low

With a record of seven losses and one win, New Mexico has the unenvied honor of holding the loop's cellar spot. The only victory which the Lobos have come up with this season was a one point thriller over the Colorado A&M Rams. The Lobos continued to hold a firm grip on the bottom rung of the ladder in dropping a tilt to Montana on Thursday and to Utah State Aggies on Saturday.

Afte rtheir win from the Lobos, the Montana crew returned to their home state where they engaged the Montana Staters in two non-conference clashes.

This week there are six conference games and one non-conference skirmish on tab. The two outstanding games will probably be Denver-Colorado A&M on Friday night and the Utah State-Denver clash on Saturday.

Score Contest Results Are Made Known

The Basketball Score Predictions contest got a shot in the arm this week when the prize for the season's champion prognosticator was announced. Clark's Man's Shop has donated a fashionable wind-breaker jacket, which will be awarded to the person who compiles the highest number of points in the contest.

Each week, three games are chosen and students who wish to enter the contest merely write down their guesses for final scores in the various games. The person winning the weekly contest receives a certain number of points, depending on the number of contest entrants. Other winners who come reasonably close to the scores also receive points to be added toward the final prize. Each person is allowed one entry per week. These entries should be put in the boxes in the bookstore or Wymount cafeteria before Saturday evening.

Here are the winners of last week's contest.

1. John Matsen
2. Wilbur Wortham, Jr.
3. James K. Forsey
4. Guy Conder.

(Because of the fewer number of entries this week, only four winners were chosen.)

A list of the season's winners and their total points will be printed in the UNIVERSE in the near future.

Since there will only be one issue of the UNIVERSE this week, the column 'Sports Scope' will not appear. Therefore, here is the list of games to be predicted for this week's contest.

Utah at Montana
Wyoming at New Mexico
Utah State at Denver.

These games will be played Saturday night.

Cougar Wrestlers Upset Utah Grapplers 20-6 In Fieldhouse

by Jack L. Davis

After an unfortunate start early in the season the Cat grapplers finally came to life Thursday night.

The Y squad gave an impressive surprise to coach Karl Schleckman and his tots from the University of Utah by registering their first win of the season.

The Cats made history in the form of another first, that of staging the first conference wrestling meet ever held in the new fieldhouse.

A large crowd was in attendance to applaud the grunts and groans of the matmen, as they produced a very entertaining show.

The Cougars won four matches and one draw. Three matches were won by decision and one by a fall, to garner enough points to win the meet.

Summary:

123 pounds — Arnold Wilson, BYU, dec. Jay Bishop, Utah, 5-2

130 pounds — Robert Steck, BYU, and Glen Young, Utah, draw, 1-1.

137 pounds—Phil Rollins, BYU, dec. Nick Beglarian, Utah, 2-0.

147 pounds—Don Starr, Utah dec. Bill Miller, BYU, 6-3.

157 pounds — Gene Swenson, BYU, dec. Maughn Colton, Utah, 9-2.

167 pounds—Mark Hafen, BYU, pinned Don Rydalch, Utah, 2:10.

177 pounds—Fred Draser, Utah, pinned Dick Tooke, BYU, 1:08.

Heavyweight — Tiny Grant, Utah, dec. Ric Eschevarrieta, BYU, 3-0.

No Individual Blamed for First Failure, Talent Show Will Go On—Wilkinson

by Ford Paulson

Stressing that no individual was responsible for the failure of "Varsity Varieties" last week, President Ernest L. Wilkinson announced today that machinery was already in action to organize and present similar shows in the future.

Following meetings with personnel connected with the show, President Wilkinson said, "Failure of the 'Varsity Varieties' was the result of a series of unfortunate mistakes. No one person can be blamed, but several have admitted failure to carry out their responsibilities."

The future of similar programs now awaits action of the Public Services Committee, under the chairmanship of Ray Beckham. Committee members include Mr. Beckham, Norman Gulbrandsen, Burnett Ferguson, Norma Rae Arrington, and Jon Katzenbach. This committee was charged by the president to maintain closer cooperation with student programs.

Committee Organized

Mr. Katzenbach, student chairman of the program bureau, who has been placed in charge of a committee for the presentation of a series of shows at the Paramount theater, reports that plans are already in progress for the new show series.

A production staff of twelve members has been selected. The staff will select the dates presentation dates of shows, review scripts and talent, and supervise all aspects of the show.

Supervising Staff

In addition, four committees will assist the production staff in supervising of shows. These four committees will supervise individual talent, music, scripts and staging.

In addition to four variety-type shows in the ten-show series, programs will be presented by organizations such as the Kia Ora club, Concert Band, Spanish club, and Opera Workshop.

Public Service Feature

According to Mr. Beckham, the programs will be presented as a public service, and any money realized from the shows will be placed in a scholarship fund.

Mr. Katzenbach reports that all shows, before being presented, will be reviewed by the Public Services committee.

Dr. Sidney Sperry Slates Six Week Lecture Course

Dr. Sidney B. Sperry, director of religious instruction at Brigham Young University, will deliver a six-lecture course in Las Vegas, Nev., three successive weekends beginning February 2.

Lectures will be presented before Latter-day Saint people in the LDS Third ward chapel at 7 p.m. each Saturday, and 2 p.m. each Sunday.

Dr. Sperry's theme will be the Book of Mormon, a subject on which he is a recognized authority.

BYU AFROTC Cadets Observe Practical Aspects of Training

Seventeen AFROTC students of the advanced Flight Operations class traveled to the University of Utah AFROTC unit last Friday to study training devices and equipment used in aircraft maintenance.

Under the direction of Captain Charles K. Moran, the class inspected cutaway jet engines, radios, and other equipment to gain practical information and experience in addition to theory.

Advanced AFROTC students of the General Technical class will visit Hill Air Force Base Friday to observe how theory they learn in class is applied practically at a large air base.

Conducted by M/Sgt. Warren H. Culpepper, the class will visit the flight line to talk with engineering and maintenance crews.

They will see how radar and communication provide warning systems for defense and how the departments of Intelligence, Provost Marshal, and Air Inspection function.

ONE UNIVERSE THIS WEEK

Because this is the official mid-term week, the UNIVERSE will not be issued this Thursday.

The UNIVERSE is issued twice weekly except during finals and mid-terms.
